Australia

Geography

Australia is an island continent made up of six states and two mainland territories. These include Western Australia, Queensland, New South Wales, Victoria, South Australia, Tasmania, Northern Territory and Australian Capital Territory. Each state and territory has its own capital city. The national capital of Australia is Canberra, which is located in the Australian Capital Territory.

Wildlife

Australia has many animals that are not found anywhere else in the world. This is because Australia is an island nation and has been separated from the rest of the world for hundreds of thousands of years, making it difficult for animals to move to other parts of the world.

First Nations Peoples

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Peoples have lived on the continent of Australia for more than 60,000 years. They are believed to be the oldest continuous culture on earth. Indigenous Australians live in varied, strong cultural groups, with each group having their own language, cultural practices, laws and land. Many Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Peoples live and continue to practise culture in contemporary ways in urban, regional and remote contexts.

The Didgeridoo is believed to be the oldest instrument in the world, dating back 40,000 years.

Food

Because Australia is a multicultural country, Australians enjoy eating foods from all over the world like pizza, sushi and burgers. Some iconic food that is traditionally associated with Australia includes Vegemite, pavlova, lamingtons, a barbecued sausage in bread, Tim Tams biscuits and the meat pie.

Sport

Australians love sport with two of the most popular being cricket and football. Because of our magnificent beaches, Australians also enjoy surfing, swimming and sailing. Melbourne has been dubbed 'the sporting capital of the world', as it plays host to many well-known sporting events. In the summer, Melbourne Park hosts the Australian Open where many tennis greats come to battle it out at Rod Laver Arena.

The AFL grand final is played at the Melbourne Cricket Ground each year.

Landmarks

Australia is home to many famous landmarks that draw thousands of visitors to it each year. The following are just a few that are considered the most iconic.

The Great Barrier Reef: As one of the seven wonders of the world, it stretches over 2000 kilometres. It is a unique ecosystem, home to thousands of brightly coloured fish species, ocean mammals and coral. It is the only living object that is visible from space.

The Melbourne Cricket Ground (MCG): The home of Australian Rules Football and cricket. It is famous for hosting the 1956 Olympic Games and the 2006 Commonwealth Games.

Uluru: Standing 348 metres above sea level, Uluru is one of the most well-known landmarks in Australia. It is an ancient monolith, estimated to be around 600 million years old. It is a 3.5 kilometre walk around the base of the rock.

Sydney Harbour Bridge: Opened in 1932, it is the largest steel arched bridge. It stretches 1149 metres long and stands 134 metres above the harbour.

Sydney Opera House: Sitting on Bennelong Point, the Sydney Opera House is one of the most iconic symbols of Australia. It's famous for its 'sail' design and hosts many performing arts events.

The Twelve Apostles: A collection of limestone stacks off the coast of the Port Campbell National Park. They are estimated to be 15-20 million years old.

There are only eight of the Twelve Apostles left. Due to erosion from the sea, four have fallen down.

Long ago in the Dreaming, there was a greedy frog named Tiddalick who decided he wanted to be the biggest frog of all. One hot day he became very thirsty, so he drank all the water in the billabong.

When the other animals went to the billabong for a drink, they became very angry at Tiddalick because there was no water.

This page has been intentionally left blank.

The animals decided they would make Tiddalick laugh so the water would come out of his belly. First, the echidna rolled down a hill to make Tiddalick laugh. That didn't work.

Next, the kookaburra pretended to fall out of a tree to make Tiddalick laugh. That didn't work.

After that, the wombat did a funny dance to make Tiddalick laugh. That didn't work.

Finally, the snake tied himself into a big knot, and Tiddalick could not stop laughing. He laughed so much that the water came out of his belly and fell back into the billabong. Tiddalick learnt to never take more than he needed.
